

Virginia Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, Clerk's Office, December 22, 1914.
Aida Reppert Snead
vs
In Chancery
William C. Snead

Upon written application of the complainant stating specifically the last known place of abode of the defendant, and it appearing to the Clerk that process has been issued and returned by the Sergeant of the City of Alexandria, Virginia, showing that the defendant was not found within the jurisdiction of this Court, the Clerk, on the 22nd day of December, 1914, doth grant the following order of publication:

The object of this suit is to secure a decree for divorce a mensa et thoro from the defendant, on the ground of abandonment and desertion, and for general relief, and an affidavit having been made and filed that the defendant William C. Snead is a non resident of the State of Virginia, it is ordered that he do appear here within fifteen days after publication of said order of publication and do what is necessary to protect his interest in this suit.

And it is further ordered that a copy of said order of publication be published once a week for four successive weeks in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the City of Alexandria, Va., that a copy be posted at the front door of the Court house of the Circuit Court of said City on or before the next succeeding rule day after this order is entered; and that a copy of said order of publication shall be sent by registered mail by the Clerk of this Court addressed to the said non-resident defendant at National Hotel, Washington, D. C. his last known place of abode.

SAILORS OF ELIZABETHAN AGE

Memorial to Famous British Mariners Is Far Off the Tourist Track.

Sir John Bena has persuaded the London county council to commemorate the Elizabethan sailors at Old Ratcliffe Cross, says the Manchester Guardian. The scheme hung fire for a time because the antiquaries could not fix the site of the cross, which has vanished as utterly as the name and reputation of the Ratcliffe highway near by. The place chosen is a little east of Rotherhithe tunnel, where a grimy wharf has preserved the name of the cross where so many of the stout-hearted explorers set sail for the northern seas.

Perhaps when Shadwell gets its riverside park there will be a few bold exploring sightseers from the West to look upon the memorial which is otherwise far from the tourist track as any spot in London. It shows square-ended Tudor ships under full sail above the names of Sir John Walsingham, Sir Martin Frobisher and other great names in Hakluyt and in English memories. Frobisher lies near Milton in St. Giles' Cripplegate, well within the tourist area.

If you go from the memorial up Butchers' row into Stepney you are in the traditional sailors' town, although nowadays you find the sailors' farther east, where dockland has grown up since the Elizabethan sailors went to sea. The church in Stepney's one bit of green is the sailor's church of London, unless Deptford with memories of the shipbuilders is admitted to have as good a claim. All the children born at sea were baptized parishioners of Stepney. Mariners' tombs are as thick here as those of Dutch merchants in Austin Friars. The discoverers should go back by Wapping, packed in between London docks and the river and still keeping in a score of tarry inn suggestions of the Frobisher times. You can drink ale in the "North American Sailor" and think of the great days of old when they used to hang the pirates somewhere about Wapping Old Stairs. It was Johnson advised Boswell to explore Wapping, but Boswell did not find much that was exciting—"perhaps from want of sufficient exertion," he says humbly.

TAKE DISEASE FROM WHITES

Tuberculosis Among Alaskan Indians Has Been Laid at the Door of the "Paleface."

The great prevalence of all forms of tuberculosis among the Alaskan Indians, as proved by a report by Dr. Emil Krulish, is explained by the Journal of the American Medical Association as follows:

"Tuberculosis is a comparatively new infection among Indians, bestowed upon them by the benevolent paleface along with firewater and certain other blessings of civilization. Among these blessings must probably be counted scarlet fever, measles, influenza, whooping cough and diphtheria. Not yet possessing the racial immunity which it takes many generations to acquire, the poor Indian suffers from them in greater degree than does the white, and more frequently dies of them. Then there are the overcrowding and the unsanitary conditions prevailing in most of the homes of tuberculosis sufferers; while at least this much good arises from their misfortune, that after the disease is well developed in them its progress (unless they are well cared for) is rapid, and death removes what would otherwise remain a menacing focus of infection."

Tuberculosis was one of the chief causes of the dying out of the Indians all over North America.

Two Famous Names.

"Thomas Atkins" is a newcomer compared with "Jack Tar" of the senior service. "Jack Tar" as a nickname for a sailor is first recorded in 1786; but sailors were known as "tars" for more than a hundred years before that. The name already appears in literature in the latter half of the seventeenth century. "Tar" may be short for "tarpaulin." Sailors were called "tarpaulins" early in the seventeenth century. Tarpaulin, of course, is canvas tarred to make it waterproof, and the sailors' hat made of that material, something like a sou'-wester, was called a "tarpaulin." However that may be, British sailors have been "honest tars," "gallant tars" and "gallant tars" for 200 years. There is more steel and oil about a modern battleship than tars, and perhaps, but probably Jack Tar will remain Jack Tar for another hundred years yet.—Manchester Guardian.

First English Newspaper.

The first newspaper printed in the English language, with its old English type and its quaint account of events in foreign countries, was a pamphlet issued in 1621. Its title, "Corrant or Newses from Italie, Germanie, France, and other places," is as curious as its contents. For many years it had been supposed that no copy of the Corrant was in existence, but recently a copy of this interesting document was discovered.

Busily Engaged.

"That boy of mine is mighty resourceful," said the proud father. "He makes a terrible racket."

"He has the whooping cough," said the mother. "But he couldn't cough all the time."

"No. That's why I had to give him an automobile horn to play with."
